

Camp Wo-Me-To COVID Mitigation Strategy

Per our COVID guidelines and the recommendations of the CDC and MHDH, we have some recommendations for patron safety:

- 1. All participants should be PCR COVID tested within 72 hrs. of arrival to camp
- 2. Bring the negative PCR test results with them in order to gain entry

*Treat each cabin as a cohort.

Each cohort should;

- Take temperatures of all participants in the morning before departing the cabin or interacting with other cohorts.
- Wash hands and sanitize often especially before entering the dining hall and using coffee or water service
- Sit at the same table for meals, enter the dining hall as a group, clear tables by group and exit by group
- Stay together throughout their time at camp.
- Try to maintain 6' separation from other cohorts
- Each cohort can interact with others in their group without masks since they will be sleeping and eating in close proximity to the same people.
- If there needs to be interaction between cohorts, we highly recommend that it takes place outside. Any indoors contact should be held to short periods of close contact to others, while masked to control the opportunity to spread contagions.

We have found this “cohort” strategy to be highly effective for keeping our patrons safe. God forbid, if there is an outbreak, only those in that cohort will have been exposed.

We also recommend that your group considers the use of a hold harmless agreement to protect your ministry.

Camp Wo-Me-To will do all that we can to facilitate the implementation of these strategies. The enforcement of the mitigation strategies your group chooses to apply, is the sole responsibility of the group.
